

FARM SCHOOLS ARE FAVORED

Extension Plan Meets Trustees' Approval—Students Visit Colleges.

Favorable consideration of a proposal for additional agricultural school work in the county was given by the county board of education at a called meeting Monday afternoon. The board met with Z. M. Smith, state superintendent of the agricultural vocational work in the rural schools. Mr. Smith explained the vocational training law, whereby the state pays two-thirds and the township one-third of the salary of teachers for agricultural schools, and pointed out the advantages to be gained from such work. No definite action was taken by the board.

At the same time that the board met there was a meeting of the members of the agricultural class which was held during January in Madison township. The class was given a brief talk by their instructor, Edmund G. Williams, on the problem of securing seed corn. Mr. Smith also spoke to the class, commending them for their active interest in matters pertaining to scientific farming. The work that has been started through this class, he said, was a work that would prove of vast importance to St. Joseph county. Following this talk the class visited the St. Mary's farm.

Recommend Summer Work.

The conference between the board of education and Mr. Smith lasted for two hours. In his explanation of the vocational training law Mr. Smith showed how the work of the agricultural classes could be made more practical by closely connecting it with the farm work during the summer months. It was shown how, through a one-mill levy, St. Joseph county was paying into a general state fund approximately $6,000 and how it had been only through the work in the city schools and the domestic science work in the rural schools that a part of this fund had been brought back into the county. The money returned to the county had been used in paying two-thirds of the salary of teachers in the vocational training classes, and it was not until the organization of the agricultural school in Madison township that aid was given through the fund to the cause of scientific farming in the county.

It was the consensus of opinion among the members of the board that the work in Madison township had proved successful. The plan, advanced by Mr. Smith, for broadening the scope of the work was received with approval. According to this plan three townships would unite in hiring a teacher for a school to be held for one month in each township. Following the class room session of the school, which would be held in the winter, the pupils in each community would take up the problems peculiar to their community to be worked out on the farm during the summer. To aid in this summer work the teacher would be hired to spend three months of the summer in part-time work. During this period he would spend sufficient time with the pupils from each school to aggregate one month for each township. It was estimated that the cost to the township for such work for two months would be approximately $90. It was pointed out, also, how similar methods could be followed in the domestic science work.

Class Visits Big Farms.

During the forenoon the members of the agricultural class, accompanied by their instructor, D. G. Williams, and County Agent Bordner, visited the Notre Dame farm. There were 34 who made the trip. Bro. Leo, the manager of the farm, showed the visitors his stock, calling their attention particularly to individuals which demonstrated the results from using purebred sires. Especial attention was given to the horses, the purebreds on the place being the Belgian. Bro. Leo also explained the methods employed by him in making highly productive the sandy soil which at one time was considered practically worthless.

During their visit to the St. Mary's farm in the afternoon the class was not only shown the dairy barn and the large herd of purebred Guernsey and Holstein grade cattle, but they were escorted through various buildings of the college, where they were shown particularly how the food is prepared for 625 students and how the buildings are furnished with heat and water. The boys witnessed how the cattle on the farm were fed and records kept so that the herd was made to furnish the maximum milk supply, and how this supply was then utilized with the least amount of waste. It was learned that the farm was operated according to the most practical methods in all details in order to insure the greatest profit from year to year.

SAYS OTHER FIELDS THAN WAR FOR TRUE PATRIOTS

Rev. L. M. Edwards Speaks at Services at St. Paul's M. E. Church.

Rev. L. M. Edwards, D. D., pastor of the Methodist church of Mishawaka, delivered an address at the St. Paul's M. E. church last night on the subject "George Washington and the Christian Patriot." The meeting was in the nature of a patriotic service and three reels of motion pictures were shown following the address. Two were on the "Origin of the Star Spangled Banner" and one on the subject "Uncle Sam's Navy."

Dr. Edwards said that the present day patriot has a rich heritage to work upon. "This country has been filled with men of fame, men who have made the world listen to them during their day, both in literature and politics. The patriots today have big responsibilities before them. We may or we may not have war in this country, but without that, the opportunities are great for heroes in other fields."

"To be a hero the man must be an unselfish being, far from the thought of himself alone; it must be for the other fellow. The hero of today is the man who is doing something for his brother in the religious field, the man who is helping his fellowmen to find the eternal life which is found through Christ."

Mrs. Lena Bierbauer Munson and Miss Leona Poulin have returned from the city and accepted positions at the Van Gorder millinery store, where they will be pleased to meet and serve their many friends and customers.—Advt.

LODGE NOTES

Initiation of a class of 12 candidates took place last night at the regular meeting of Fidelity camp No. 28, W. O. W., at the Woodman hall. Following the initiatory work 20 applications were received and balloted upon. The membership campaign which has been in session for the past five weeks has netted the lodge 135 new members and it will continue for one week when a social of some kind will be held. Arrangements were made for a card party with the Masons, No.

1108, at the W. O. W. hall next Monday evening in place of the regular business meeting of Fidelity camp.

Though neither she nor her husband, an American named George Washington Lopp, touch the weed in any form, the 1,000,000 cigarettes, 200,000 pounds of tobacco and 50,000 pipes, collected by a wealthy Paraguayan young woman for the allied soldiers have won for her the title, "My Lady Nicotine."
